BOOK FAIR 2019

Date: 31-01-2019

BOOK FAIR 2019

The inauguration of the book fair stall of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology (MAKAUT), West Bengal in Kolkata International Book Fair this year was done by the Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Prof Saikat Maitra on the 31st of January, 2019 with a unique objective . Besides publications, the aim was to make our future generation aware about the educational opportunities available in West Bengal as well as uphold professional courses offered by the affiliated colleges under the University.

The University showcased several professional programmes that promote employability and entrepreneurship amongst students that generated a lot of interest amongst the young visitors and their parents.

Donation of Books

The platform of Book Fair was helpful for the University in its initiative in collecting books for encouraging book reading habits in the society. Construction of Street/Open libraries was encouraged at different locations of the State. This unique endeavour became quickly popular. Books were donated at the stall itself and many assured to help donate books at regular intervals. It was conveyed at the Book Fair that if necessary, the University representatives may collect books from the residences of the donors. The MAKAUT help desk numbers have received calls even after the completion of the Book Fair. This showed that people were looking forward to donate books generously.

The Annual Athletic Meet was organized in the University Campus on 22nd February, 2019. The number of female and male students who participated in various events were 86 and 140 respectively. 46 female and 110 male staff members of the University participated in the meet.

National Science Day

National Science Day

The National Science Day was organised on 28th February, 2019 in the Seminar Hall of Academic Building, Main Campus. Eighty Educational Institutions affiliated to the University participated in the programme. More than 70 innovative projects created by the student community were showcased and near about 450 participants took part in the initiative.

University had planned the programme in a coordinated manner with an intention to encourage entrepreneurial spirit among its student and alumni community by comprehensive start-up assistance through its EKTA Incubation Center and to provide a platform to display the technical talent of students and demonstrate their innovative ideas. A panel of experts assessed the techno-commercial potential of the projects presented. Quality projects were recommended for nurturing at MAKALTY's EKTA Incubation Center for comprehensive start-up support.

The National Science Day was inaugurated by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Prof. Saikat Maitra. In his speech he stressed on the development of new innovative areas of science and technology. Prof. D. Dhar Patra, Vice Chancellor, Bidhan Chandra Roy Krishi Viswa Vidyalaya was present as the Chief Guest on the occasion. Other honoured guests on the occasion were Mr. Pradip Chopra, Chairman, Ilead, Prof. Satyajit Chakravorty, Director, Institute of Engineering and Management amongst others. Prof. Sukhendu Samajdar and Dr Subhabrata Roychoudhuri coordinated the entire event.

Innovative Science Models Contest was conducted which the first prize was bagged by the team from Institute of Engineering and Management, Kolkata, second prize by the team from Dr. B.C. Roy Engineering College, Durgapur and third prize by the team from Haldia Institute of Technology. Seminar Competition, Poster Contest and Mobile Photography contest was also conducted on this occasion.

Certain projects drew special attention of the jurists namely Smart Dustbin, Military Drone, Drone to be used for Agricultural purpose, Walking stick for the blind, etc. Already the project on walking stick for the blind has been taken up for making it viable for use and an NGO namely Paschimanga Pratibandhi Sammelani was approached to test its uses and suggest specification if required in this regard and they have appreciated the innovation highly. The concept of anti-raping gloves and air-bike developed to be operated without the use of fossil fuel was also highly commended by the jurists.

The prize winners of the Innovative Science Model Contest were invited by the University to demonstrate their models separately to our students and faculty members on 25th April, 2019.
